Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, annually, the Department of Revenue (DOR) determines the full value of the property of each county and taxation district. This property valuation is known as "equalized value." DOR determines the equalized value of all property in the state to ensure, generally, that the property is being assessed at its full value. If DOR makes an error in determining the equalized value of the property of any county or taxation district, DOR corrects the error by adjusting the county's or taxation district's equalized value in the year after the year in which DOR made the error.

Under this bill, DOR makes payments to any taxation district that certifies to DOR that the most recent equalized value of the taxation district's property is greater than it should be because of a clerical, arithmetic, transpositional, or similar error made by DOR, and that the amount of the overvaluation represents 10 percent or more of the taxation district's equalized value in the year prior to the year in which the error occurred. The taxation district uses the payments to make loans to persons who own property in the taxation district and who paid more property taxes than they should have as a result of DOR's error. The maximum loan amount would be equal to the erroneous increase in the person's taxes. The loan amount would be collected by the state as a special charge against the taxation district for the year following the year in which DOR's error occurred.

SECTION 4. 70.57 (4) of the statutes is created to read:

70.57 (4) (a) From the appropriation under s. 20.566 (2) (b), the department shall provide payments to any taxation district that certifies to the department, in

SENATE BILL 14*SECTION 4

1 the manner prescribed by the department, that the most recent valuation of the 2 taxation district's property under this section is greater than it should be because of 3 a clerical, arithmetic, transpositional, or similar error made by the department, as 4 confirmed by the department, and that the amount of the overvaluation represents 5 10 percent or more of the taxation district's valuation under this section in the year 6 prior to the year in which the error occurred.

7 (b) A taxation district receiving payments under par. (a) shall use the payments 8 to make loans to persons who own property located in the taxation district and who 9 are paying more property taxes than they should be as a result of the error. A person 10 may receive a loan by applying, in the manner prescribed by the department, to the 11 taxation district in which the person's property is located no later than June 15 of the 12 year following the error. The state shall collect the amount of any loan issued under 13 this paragraph as a state special charge against the taxation district for the year
14 after the year in which the error occurred and the special charge shall not be included 15 in the taxation district's levy. The taxation district shall assess the loan amount as 16 a special charge against the property for which the loan was made on the property 17 tax bill succeeding the loan, as provided under ch. 74 and s. 66.0627 (1). Except for 18 interest and penalties, as provided under s. 74.47, that apply to any delinquent
19 special charge based on the loan amount, neither the department nor the taxation
20 district may charge interest on any loan issued under this paragraph. The maximum 21 loan amount that a person may receive under this paragraph shall be calculated by 22 multiplying the assessed value of the person's property by a decimal determined by 23 the department as follows:

24 1. For the year in which the error occurred, apportion county, school district,
25 technical college district, and metropolitan sewerage district property taxes, and

SENATE BILL 14*SECTION 4

1 state forestation taxes under s. 70.58, to the taxation district using the taxation
2 district's erroneous valuation.

3 2. For the year in which the error occurred, apportion county, school district,
4 technical college district, and metropolitan sewerage district property taxes, and
5 state forestation taxes under s. 70.58, to the taxation district using the taxation
6 district's correct valuation.

7 3. Subtract the amount determined under subd. 2. from the amount 8 determined under subd. 1.

9 4. Divide the amount determined under subd. 3. by the taxation district's 10 assessed value for the year in which the error occurred and express the result as a 11 decimal.

12 (c) The department shall make the payments under par. (a) monthly, based on 13 the amounts requested in loan applications to the taxation district each month,
14 except that the department shall make no payments to a taxation district after June 15 30 of the year following the year in which the error occurred.
